

Antonio Crespo de la Mata

Global Partner and General Manager

Quint Wellington Redwood

Antonio is currently Global Partner and General Manager for Iberia and Latam at Quint Wellington Redwood, management consulting firm specialized in Digital Strategy and IT Governance. He was also the founder of Leaners Magazine, a leading publication on innovation and startups. Antonio participates actively in conferences and is the author of numerous articles and papers describing the impact of digital transformation in the business models.

He has advised a great number of big and medium sized corporations in different countries on their business strategies, leveraging the opportunities arisen by technologies, also in terms of efficiency and process optimization. He is a well reputed expert in Lean Management, Enterprise Agility, Corporate Governance and Digital Transformation.

Antonio has also cofounded and chaired various associations focused on business transformation in the digital context, like the recently created Business Agility Corporation (www.businessagilitycorp.com), which promotes enterprise agility as key for the cultural transformation.

Before founding Quint's Spanish affiliate, Antonio worked for Hewlett Packard, where he became Finance Manager, amongst other positions.
