

Douglas Trafelet

Managing Director, Vice President of Sales

Pitchbook

Douglas A. Trafelet is based in London and is Vice President of Sales and Managing Director of the firm's European operations. Prior to joining PitchBook, Doug was Managing Director and Head of International Sales of the pioneering expert network provider Coleman Research. Doug was on the founding team at Coleman and spent five years building the firm's US operations out of New York before moving to London in 2009 where he spearheaded international expansion into Europe and Asia.

Before Coleman, Doug worked at Barker Capital, a boutique investment bank in New York City where he worked on media financing and M&A transactions. Prior Barker Capital, he was an Editor at National Geographic Magazine in Washington, DC and a news writer at the Tribune-owned WGN TV in Chicago.

Douglas holds a BA from Kenyon College in psychology and an MBA in finance and economics from the University of Chicago.
